Wesson Snowdrift Oil

For Cooking and Salads

The Organization

Mrs. Henry T. Wickham, President of the Exchange for Women's Work, has completed arrangements for a combination of Practical Cooking Demonstrations and Lectures, to be conducted at No. 300 East Franklin Street. The Demonstrations will begin Tuesday, May 17th, with a luncheon from 12 to 2:30 o'clock and a tea on the opening day from 5 to 7 o'clock. The luncheons will be served daily as long as practicable. They will be conducted by Mrs. W. H. Daniel, of Savannah, in charge of an expert crew of cooking demonstrators, representing The Southern Cotton Oil Company.

The price of these delicious luncheons will be 25c each; tea will be served at 10c each.

Demonstrations will be conducted by Mrs. Daniel daily from 10:30 to 12 o'clock. She has arranged to instruct four cooks by appointment, arrangements for which instructions must be made on the day previous with the Superintendent of the Exchange.

The Southern Cotton Oil Company has generously donated as many 8-ounce cans of Wesson Snowdrift Oil as the committee can dispose of. These cans will be sold for 10c each, and cannot be secured in this size elsewhere. All of the money derived from the sale of the luncheons, tea and oil will go to the Exchange for Women's Work, to be used in their work.

An attractive feature of these demonstrations will be the presence of an Entertaining Committee, composed of the members of the Boards of Managers of the Exchange, who will serve as hostesses and waitresses, assisted by a number of society girls of Richmond.

The Product

The food product, the uses of which will be demonstrated, is the justly famed Wesson Snowdrift Oil for Cooking and Salads.

The oil is absolutely pure, odorless and tasteless; is a vegetable product, free from all animal fats. Experts regard it as the best oil ever produced. It takes the place, perfectly, of butter and lard for cooking purposes, and of olive oil for salad making, for Hollandaise, and all other kinds of white sauces, meat gravies and cake-baking. The expense is much less.

In frying Wesson Snowdrift Oil cooks food perfectly without penetrating, eliminating, from a digestive point of view, the chief objection to fried foods. Better than lard for any shortening.

Wesson Snowdrift Oil, when known, commends itself to the practical housekeeper because its use is economy; it is 100 per cent. cooking value, each drop being made to do full duty. It appeals to the epicure, because it is free from those indigestion-dyspepsia causing properties so prominent in butter and lard, and is far more delicious as an article of food.

May be obtained of any progressive dealer in Richmond, in Sanitary Tins only. Two-pound cans, price 30c. The product is the successful result of years of effort, expense and experiment to make the cotton plant of the South yield a cooking fat and salad oil as perfect as nature produces.
